PRODUCT INFORMATION

Product Material

Arctic Grips offers PU, PE and GRP macros manufactured at Kastline. In order to meet the industry standards, we are forever trying to progress when it comes to quality and durability. We are continuously working with our manufacturer, testing and experimenting to find the best material and product to offer to our customers.

Weight reduction

Most of our holds are hollow back, drastically reducing the weight. Not all holds can be reduced like this due to their dimensions, but where it is possible we have tried to take out as much PU or PE resin as possible without losing structural strength.

Texture

We design our holds based on comfort and aesthetics. We have chosen to use a smooth but slightly pored texture to allow longer climbing time in the gym regarding chalk build up, and to give your finger an experience they will not forget.

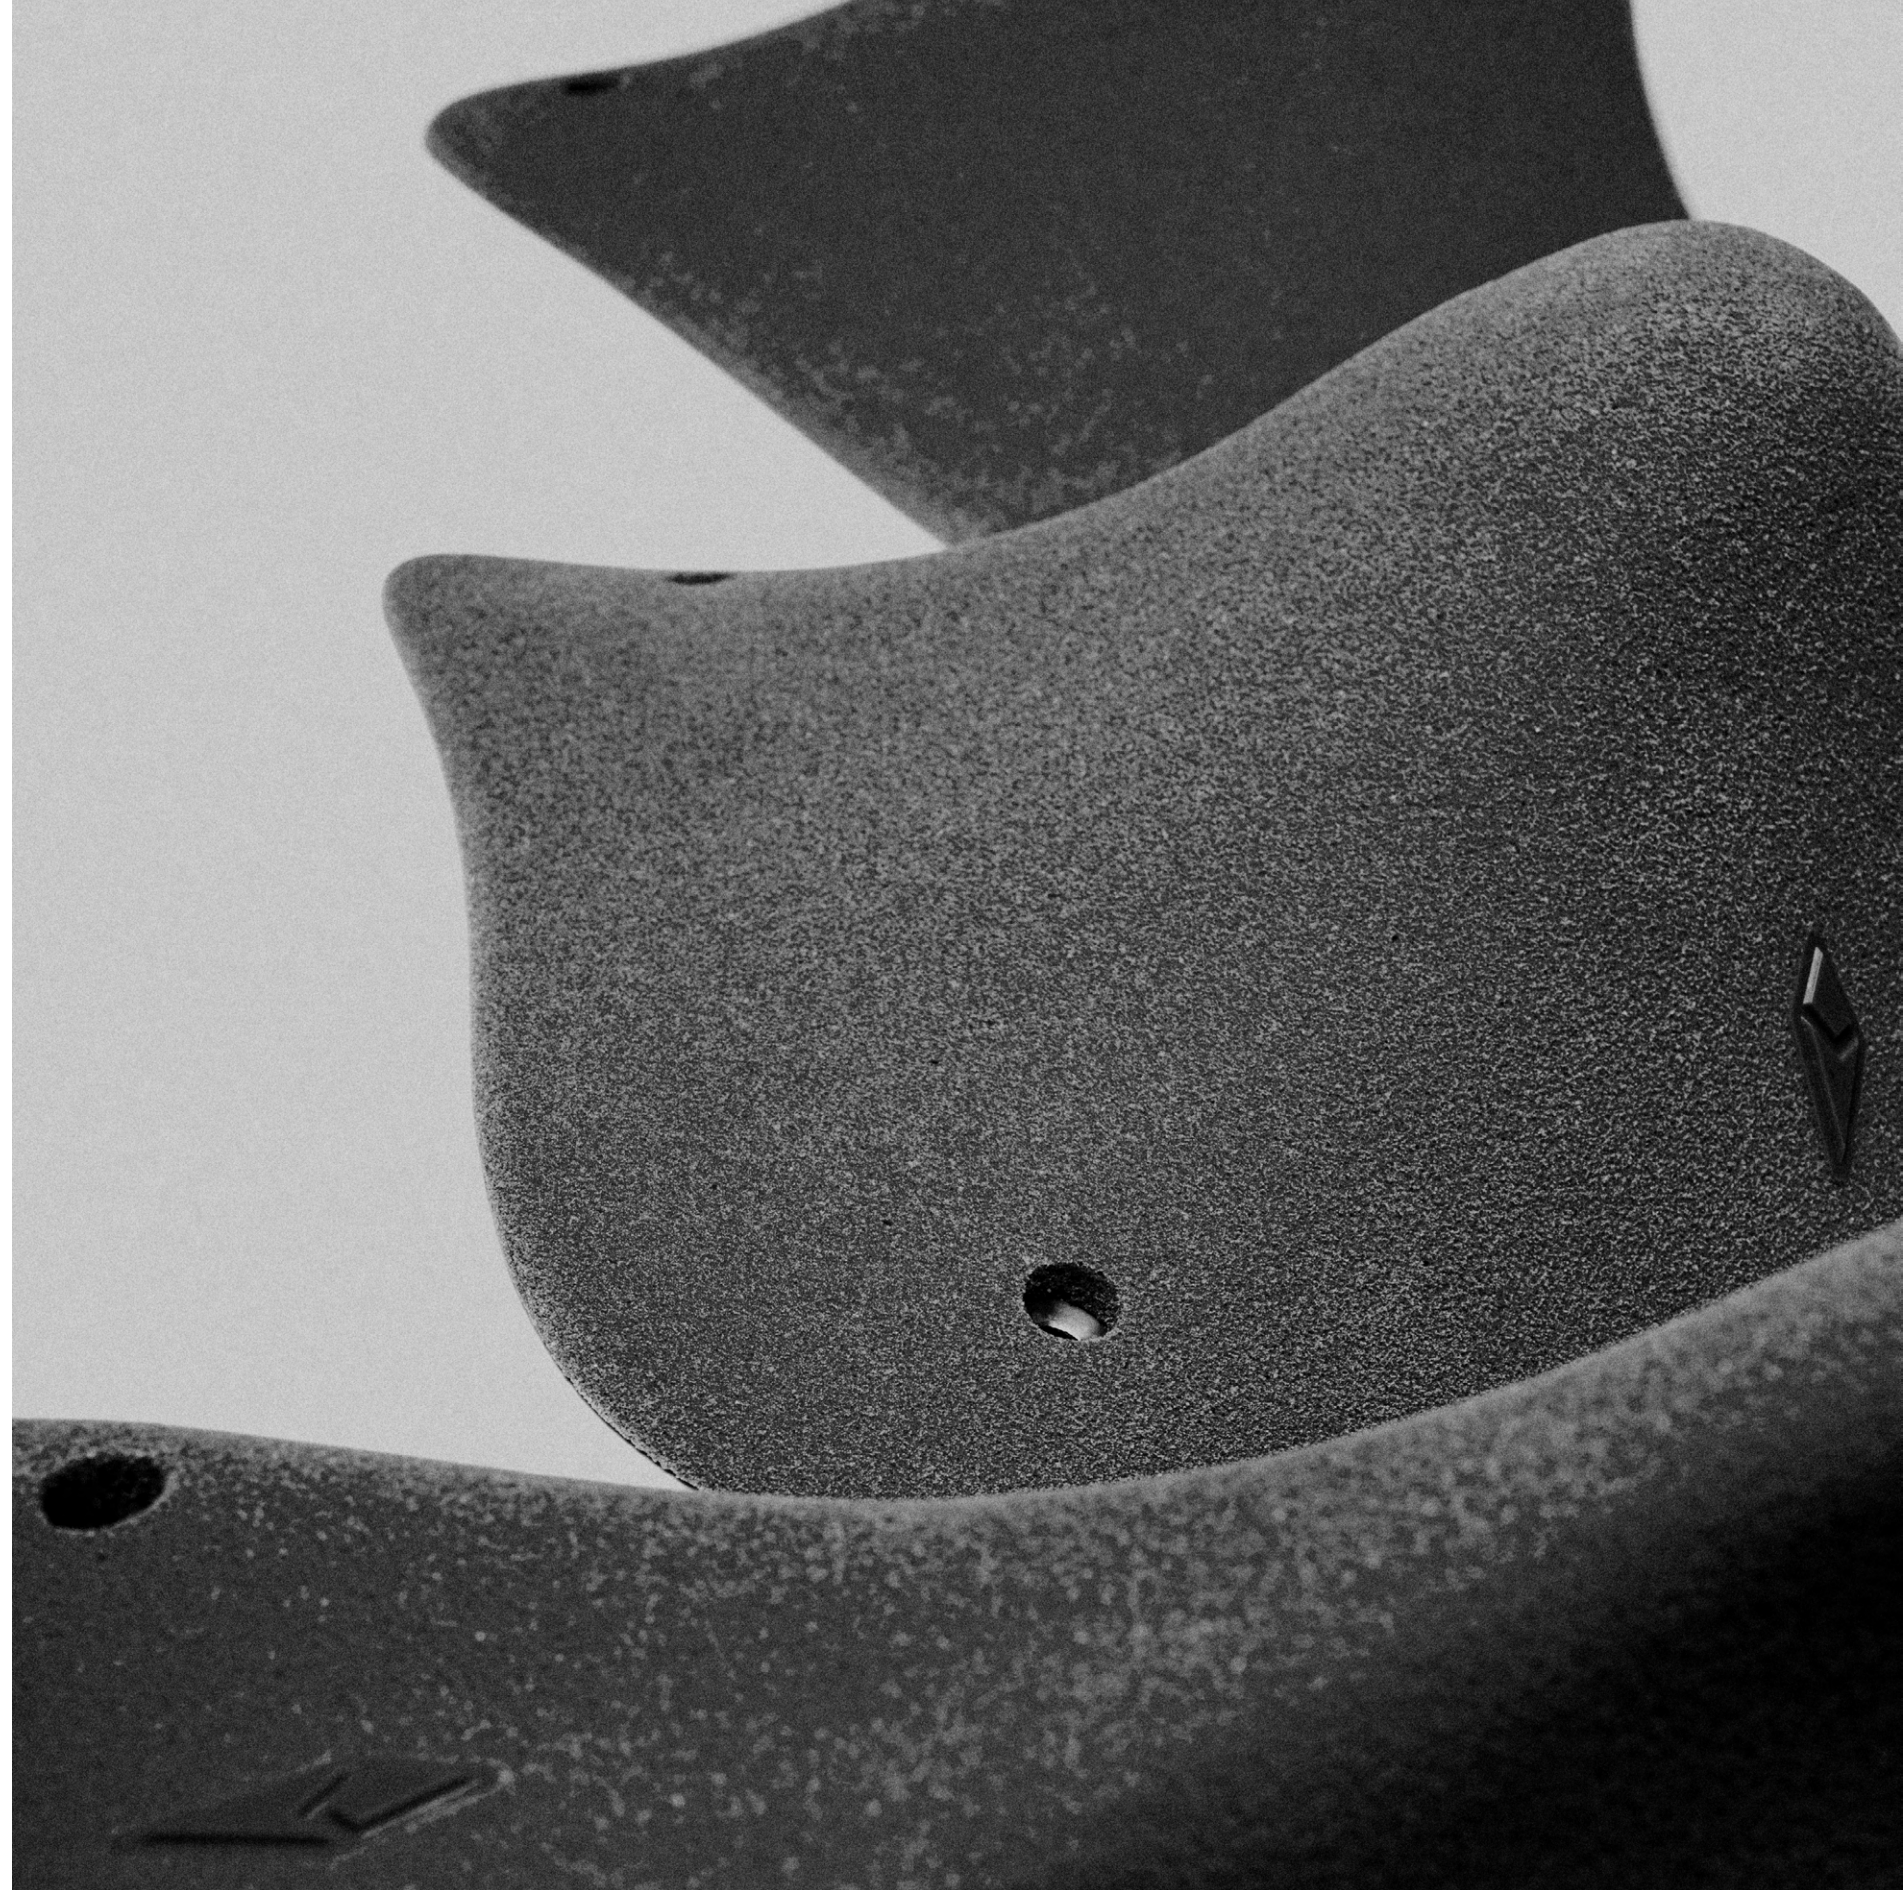

Fixings

All our holds will come with a Dual washer system. This allows both Cap-Head bolts and Countersunk bolts to fit without the need of additional washers. All our bolt-on holds come with added screw holes to prevent spinning and to give a more solid purchase to the climbing wall. All screw holes have metal inserts to stop over sinking of the screws leading to damaged holds.

Aurora

The Aurora Series consists of pack sets which can be added to each other to create both mixed boulder routes or long lead routes. There is both smooth friction shapes and natural friction shapes to create diversity. Not to mention 3XL GRP macros to create comp style boulders.

ARCTIC GRIPS

HANDCRAFTED, NORWEGIAN DESIGN CLIMBING HOLDS.

Aiming to be a local, yet global provider of new and inspiring climbing holds, we are excited to see the launch of our little company fitting timely into the boasting movement of the climbing community both locally and abroad. Using our years of experience as both route setters and climbers, with a slightly odd and mixed background, we hope to meet the demand for progressive and inspiring new climbing holds. Keeping our northern roots alive whilst converting our inspirations, led by the spectacularity of nature, into indoor climbing holds can -and should be a daunting task- and we do it in awe.

In order to meet the industry standards for quality and making the most durable holds, we find it paramount to use the highest quality possible concerning materials and production. Our factory, Kastline, shares our values and with their brand new facilities they are doing an outstanding job to keep the quality at the highest standard possible, with shapes made from the most up to date types of texture foam sets for a long term branding. Metal inserts for both set screws and bolt holes on all holds and chips, adding to texture of holds, and the ergonomics of every single pinch, crimp, chip and jug is something we hope will catch the eye of coffee drinking route setters and chalk heads around the globe!
